THE PRESSES are busy. Within a few weeks, a revised, illustrated edition of the popular book, "Forward March," will be ready for you. The book, originally published in 1934, has been brought up-to-date. It is a review of important industries in Alabama, and contains a list of all Alabama manufacturing establishments, giving the number of people engaged in them and the value of the products

Over a period of years, our Industrial Division has aided, directly or indirectly, in the location of 341 new industries within the areas to which we supply electric service. This achievement represents nearly one-fifth of the total number of manufacturing establishments in Alabama, as reported in the Census of Manufactures (1937) by the U. S. Department of Commerce.

One Time When Playing Hookey
Doesn't Pay

SUPPOSE THAT—At a regular time each week, a big majority of the people of Elba gathered together in one big meeting place. There isn't an auditorium or a stadium in the city big enough to hold that many.

> No circus has ever brought into the community a tent big enough to hold the thousands of men, women and children comprising such an audience. But suppose there were such a place. Then

SUPPOSE THAT—After all these people had settled down in comfortable chairs, you were offered an opportunity to get up on the stage in front of them and announce over a loud speaker that you had certain things you would like to sell them. Wouldn't you jump at the chance?

YOU SURE WOULD! You would instantly recognize the high value of the opportunity to talk to all those possible customers—folks who would have to walk only a few steps or drive a few miles to your place of business.

> You'd study out carefully what you wanted to say to them. You'd like it immensely if you could show them pictures of the things you had to sell.

WOULD YOU PLAY HOOKEY?—When your time came to step before the microphone, would you want to be reported absent? You would NOT. Would you say to yourself: "I talked to them last week. They know I'm here and what I sell." You would NOT. You know that there would be new faces in every audience—young folks who have reached the buying age-older folks who have moved in from some other community.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER? Regularly, every week, a big majority of the people of Coffee County seat themselves in comfortable chairs to read The Clipper. They are just as ready to listen, as individuals, to what sellers have to say about their wares as if they were in the midst of a crowd of thousands of neighbors and friends.

they need to buy.

No time to "play hookey" with a crowd that size on hand. Who wants to?
